

Please do not over-rule the Indiana telephone privacy law. We have been relieved of 4 to 8 telephone sales calls per day. It is truly a delight to be able to prepare and eat a meal or read a book with my family without unnecessary and unwanted marketing calls. I suspect that many marketing firms and large corporations are lobbying to lower the standard and once again plague me with interruptions. I trust you to uphold the peace and privacy of our nations homes rather than the desires of corporate entities.

Sincerely,

Karen Durham
